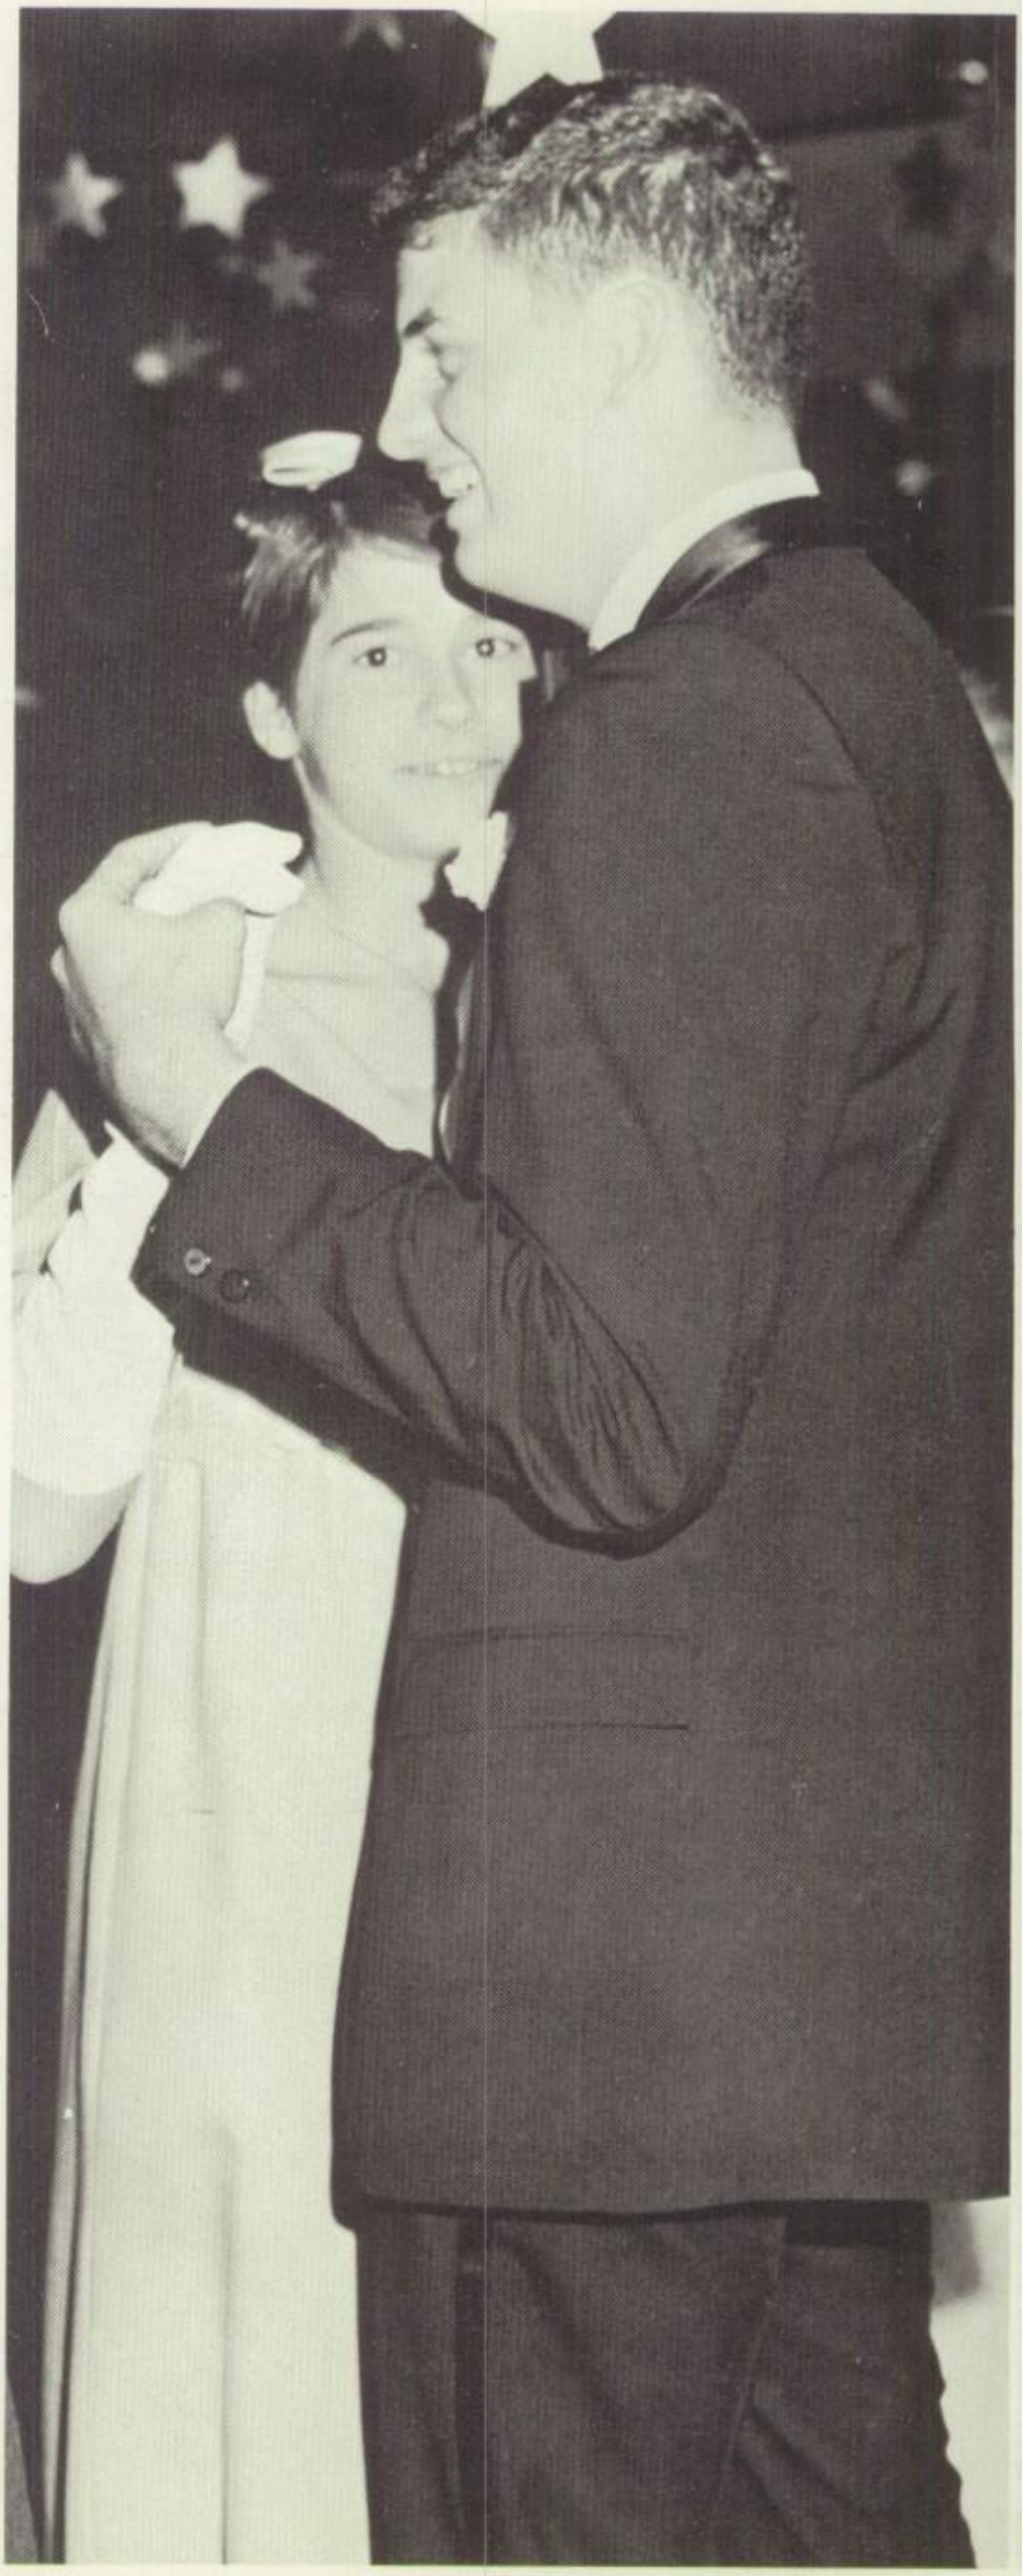
Volume I



"There is an appointed time for everything."

"What advantage has the worker from his toil? I have considered the task which God has appointed for men to be busied about. He has made everything appropriate to its time, and has put the timeless into their hearts, without men's ever discovering, from beginning to end, the work which God has done. I recognized that there is nothing better than to be glad and to do well during life. For every man, moreover, to eat and drink and enjoy the fruit of all his labor is a gift of God."

Ecclesiastes 3:9-13

College Prep Courses Constitute a Chal lenge for Students

2+2=4, the symbol for Oxygen is 0, Shakespeare lives, Mr. Nixon won and "amo" is Latin for love. Of course these are only the bare fundamentals of the various classes offered our students, but they serve to exemplify the wide scope of knowledge attainable through Foley's well developed college prep course.

The English department is at its height with movies, books, and other materials used to supplement the routine course. The Advanced Placement English class has also been added to the curriculum.

A full science program including earth science, biology, chemistry, and physics is now in swing producing the best in future scientists.

Many students have also accepted the challenging and excellent courses offered by the math department.

New electronic language labs play an important role in the instruction of both the Latin and French languages.

The government and history classes involve an in-depth view of the operation and history of our government and teach the students to participate in its activities.

Evidently the subjects offered by the college prep courses are as diverse and interesting as the ambitions and dreams of the students themselves.

Developing the Well-Rounded Student

"To go to college or not to go to college, that is the question!" No matter what the answer is, the following courses can always be of help in developing a well-rounded student.

Typing and shorthand, though not considered academic subjects, involve a lot of practice and memorization.

No matter what your occupation, the ability to speak properly always gives you extra points. This year's speech and drama classes, covering everything from explanation speeches to debating, are just the right courses. Speaking isn't the only thing that's necessary; for every girl the knowledge gained in the home ec classes is a must.

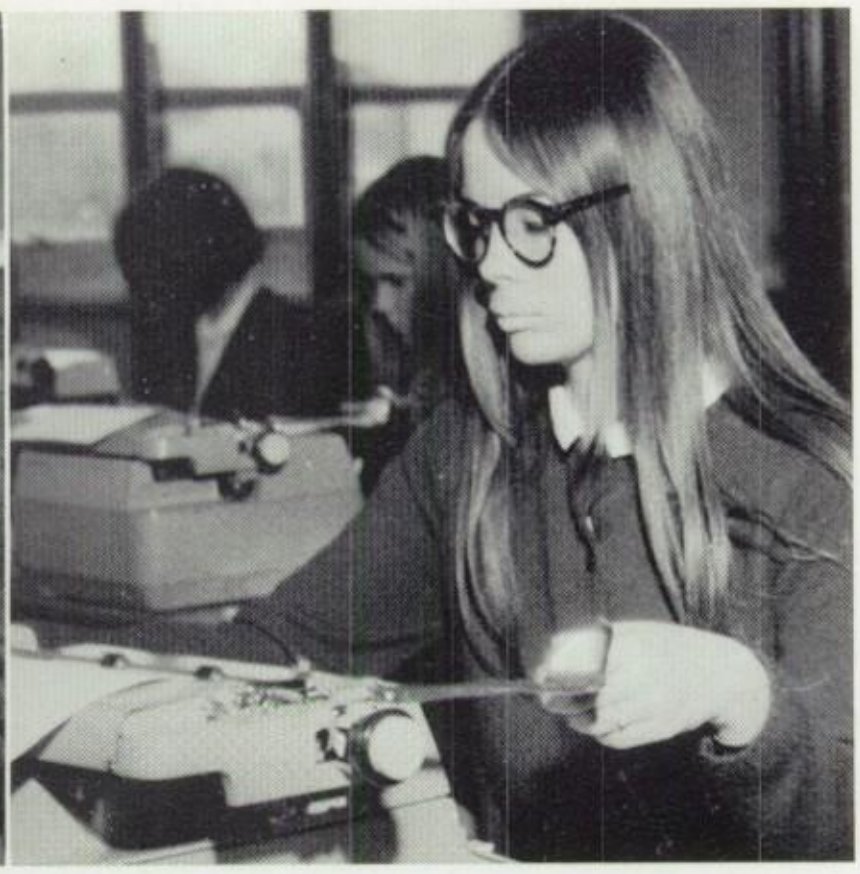
Music is one of the highlights of Sister Mary Sheehan's drafting classes. Sounds of the SRC and the Amboy Dukes provide an energetic atmosphere.

The art classes were made more enjoyable this year because of live student models, and together with the music department under the direction of Mr. Palmer, helped to develop the cultural aspect of Foley.

The main responsibility of this year's journalism class was the publishing of Foley's first yearbook, along with the production of the school paper, the Venturian.

Developing the body as well as the mind is also very important. Though Foley lacked complete facilities until midway through the year the phys ed department was still very efficient.

Completing the formation of the well-rounded student are the religion classes, which are the actual center of student life at Foley.



Far left: "An artist not only proclaims the truth, he celebrates it." The motto of this year's art class runs through Mary Nadolski's mind as she tries to catch just the right pose of her model. Above middle: Believe it or not, beneath this mass of thick brown hair, Brian Barry is actually accomplishing the work of an expert draftsman. Above right: Fran Brown displays the true look of an intellectual as she prepares her typewriter for a speed test.

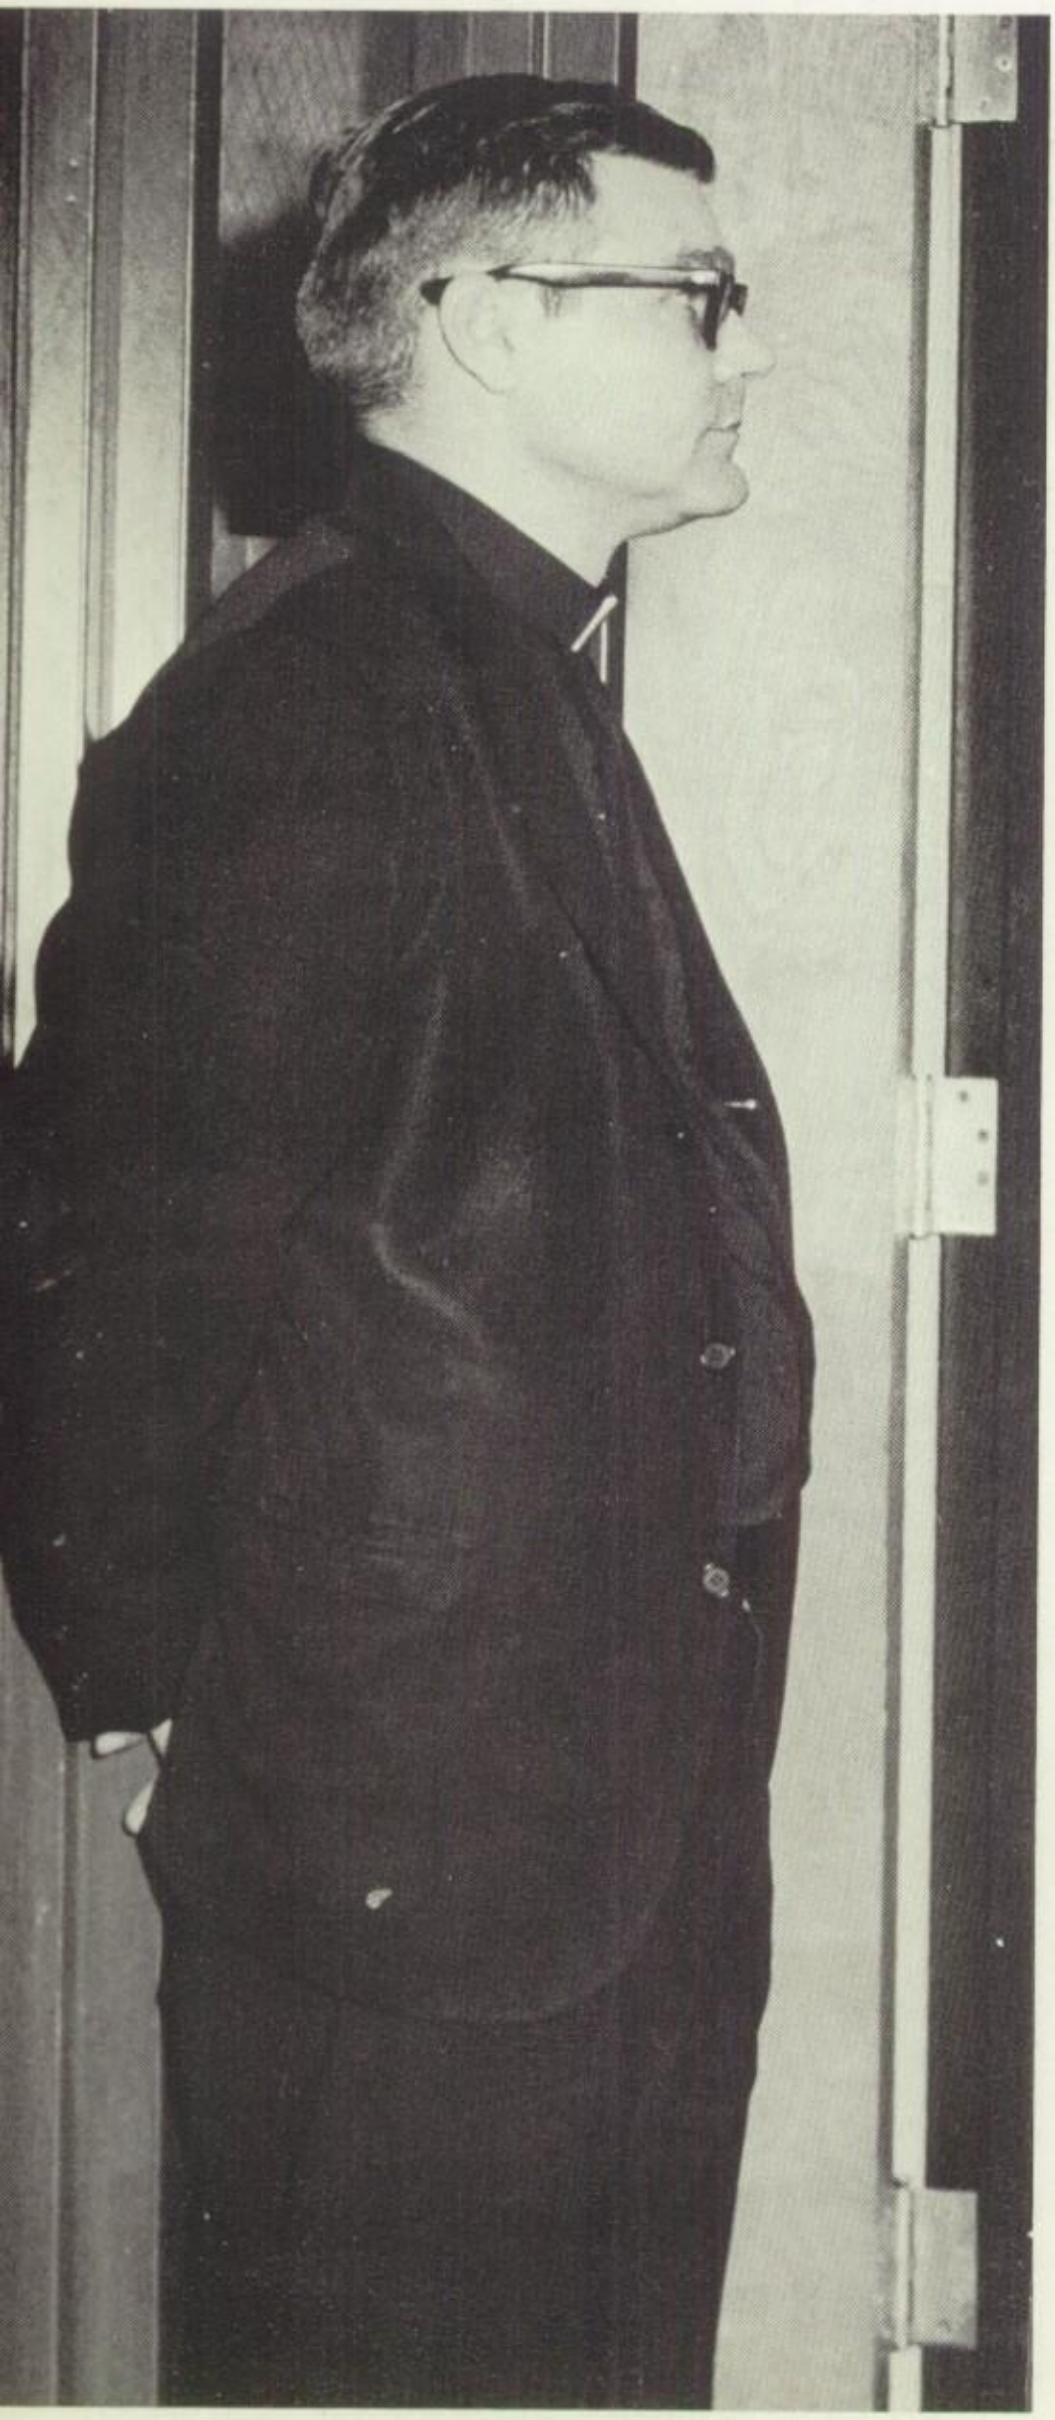
We Need People To Whom We Can Turn



During the existence of Foley the administration and staff have made it possible for students to enjoy the efficiency of a well organized school. Heading the list of people who have molded Foley tradition is Father Haener. Father is our principal, chaplain, spiritual counselor, and teacher. In addition to Father Haener are Sister Carmeline, Assistant Principal, and Mr. Deis, Dean of Men, who besides checking side burns and skirts have a busy time scheduling students and signing absence slips. Of course no school would be complete without counselors, and Foley in its first year of completion has been blessed with the best. Guiding seniors through college board exams and aiding any students in need, these counselors have truly been an asset to Foley. Last but certainly not least are those charming ladies of the office. With constantly smiling faces and always a cheerful comment, these ladies not only brighten every day but keep Foley running in a very organized and orderly way.

Have you heard of talking computers or mechanized teaching units? These products of the "computer age" have not yet reached Bishop Foley.

Our faculty is still genuine, real, and very understanding.

Many of the students' problems are solved by these competent instructors. Friends as well as educators, our teachers have always worked well with the students.

Freshmen find Foley's teachers very capable of bridging the gap between grade school and high school. Teachers of sophomores continue to train students through the crucial point of their high school career, while juniors and seniors are guided toward their prospective goals.

Foley is well known for its educational standards and this, of course, is due to our faculty. We hope the "computer age" never reaches Foley because although we have minor misunderstandings and a certain amount of communication deficiency we have yet to have called in a mechanic to tamper with our "teaching units."

ACTIVITIES

"A time to weep,

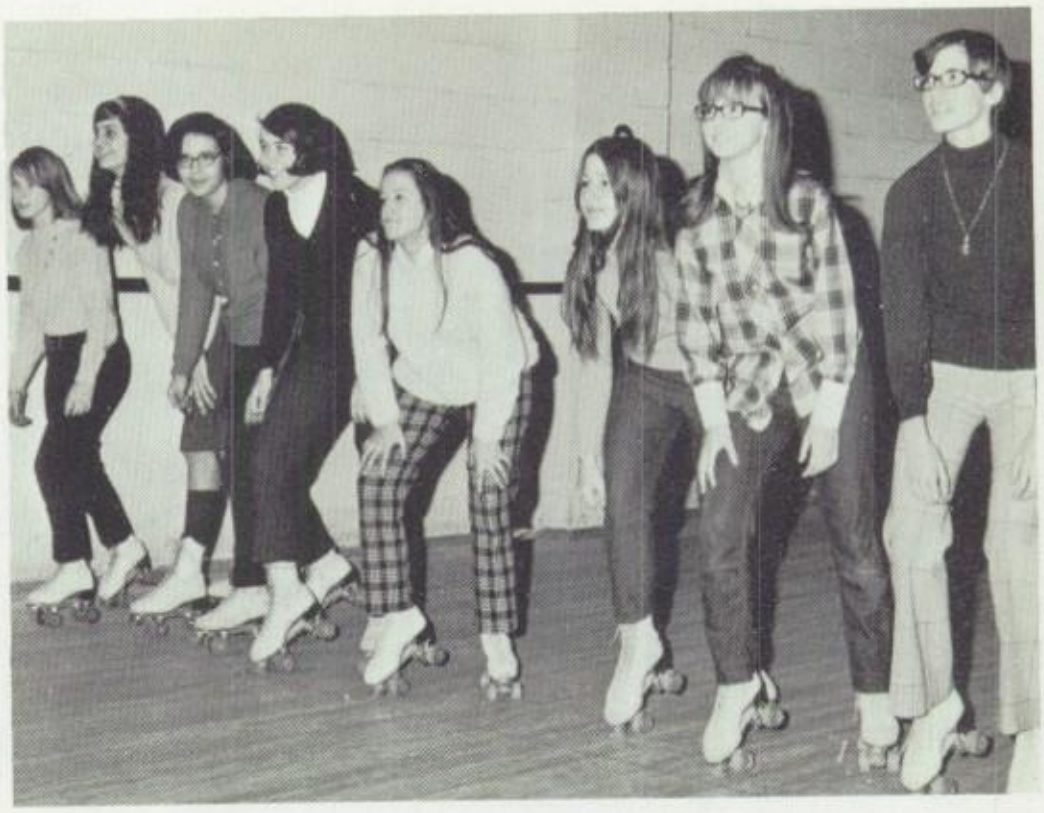
and a time

to laugh;

a time to mourn,

and a time

to dance."



Foley Ventured Forth

Sunny skies, pretty people, and ecstatic enthusiasm were the invaluable ingredients for the anxiously anticipated forthcoming weekend of October 11-13.

At the head of the schedule was Friday night's semi-formal dance. The theme "Foley Ventures Forth" embellished the walls above the dancers as the queen, senior Debbie Gough, was announced.

Saturday was the stage for an unprecedented amount of energetic work as people collected wood for the bonfire. The spirit-filled bonfire was held that evening, and the juniors came up with the highest pile of wood to win. Lighting up the sky and the faces of the students, the four huge bonfires were slowly reduced to ashes, but these dying embers were the spark that ignited the fire of enthusiasm the next day.

Sunday crowned the week-end as well as the queen. The float contest was judged at half-time, and the seniors came through to win first place with an enormous blue whale.

The week-end was completed with an outstanding 23 to 12 victory over the St. David Aviators. Behind at half-time, the Ventures came on strong in the second half to put the game "on ice" and climax a great week-end for Foley.

Left: "Fire, we'll take you to burn!" The cheerleaders ignited the enthusiasm of the students which rose as high as the flames. Below: Adorning the field at half-time were Princesses Mary Jo Dedenbach, Kathy McAuliffe, Sue Barton, Queen Debbie Gough, and court members Sheryl DeCiantis, Mary Krolikowski, and Sue O'Malley. They were escorted onto the field by their fathers and presented with roses. Queen Debbie was crowned by the football co-captains, Ed Freytag and Stan Scislowicz. Above. After several weeks of secret preparation the seniors came up with a 27-foot blue whale which claimed the first prize in the float competition.

Activities Arrayed Around The Clock

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."

There are no dull boys, or girls, for that matter, at Foley. From September to June active is the word for Foley's schedule of events.

Early in the year the students give their all-out support to the Dads' Club in the annual candy sale. "Mint Truffles" was a common word heard in Foley's halls this year.

The missions is another worthy cause which the student body supports. The powder-puff game, November 14, was one of the highlights of the missions scene, as well as a lot of wholesome fun. Giving of baskets and presents for needy families was one of the most rewarding mission projects this year.

Entertainment is an activity which fills much of the students' time. The Christmas Concert, presented by the instrumental and choral groups, was an example of the finest entertainment. Dances, such as the Forthcoming and square dances, are particularly unique events at Foley. Athletics also add to the already hectic schedule. Any student who takes part in all of these activities is bound to be busy around the clock.

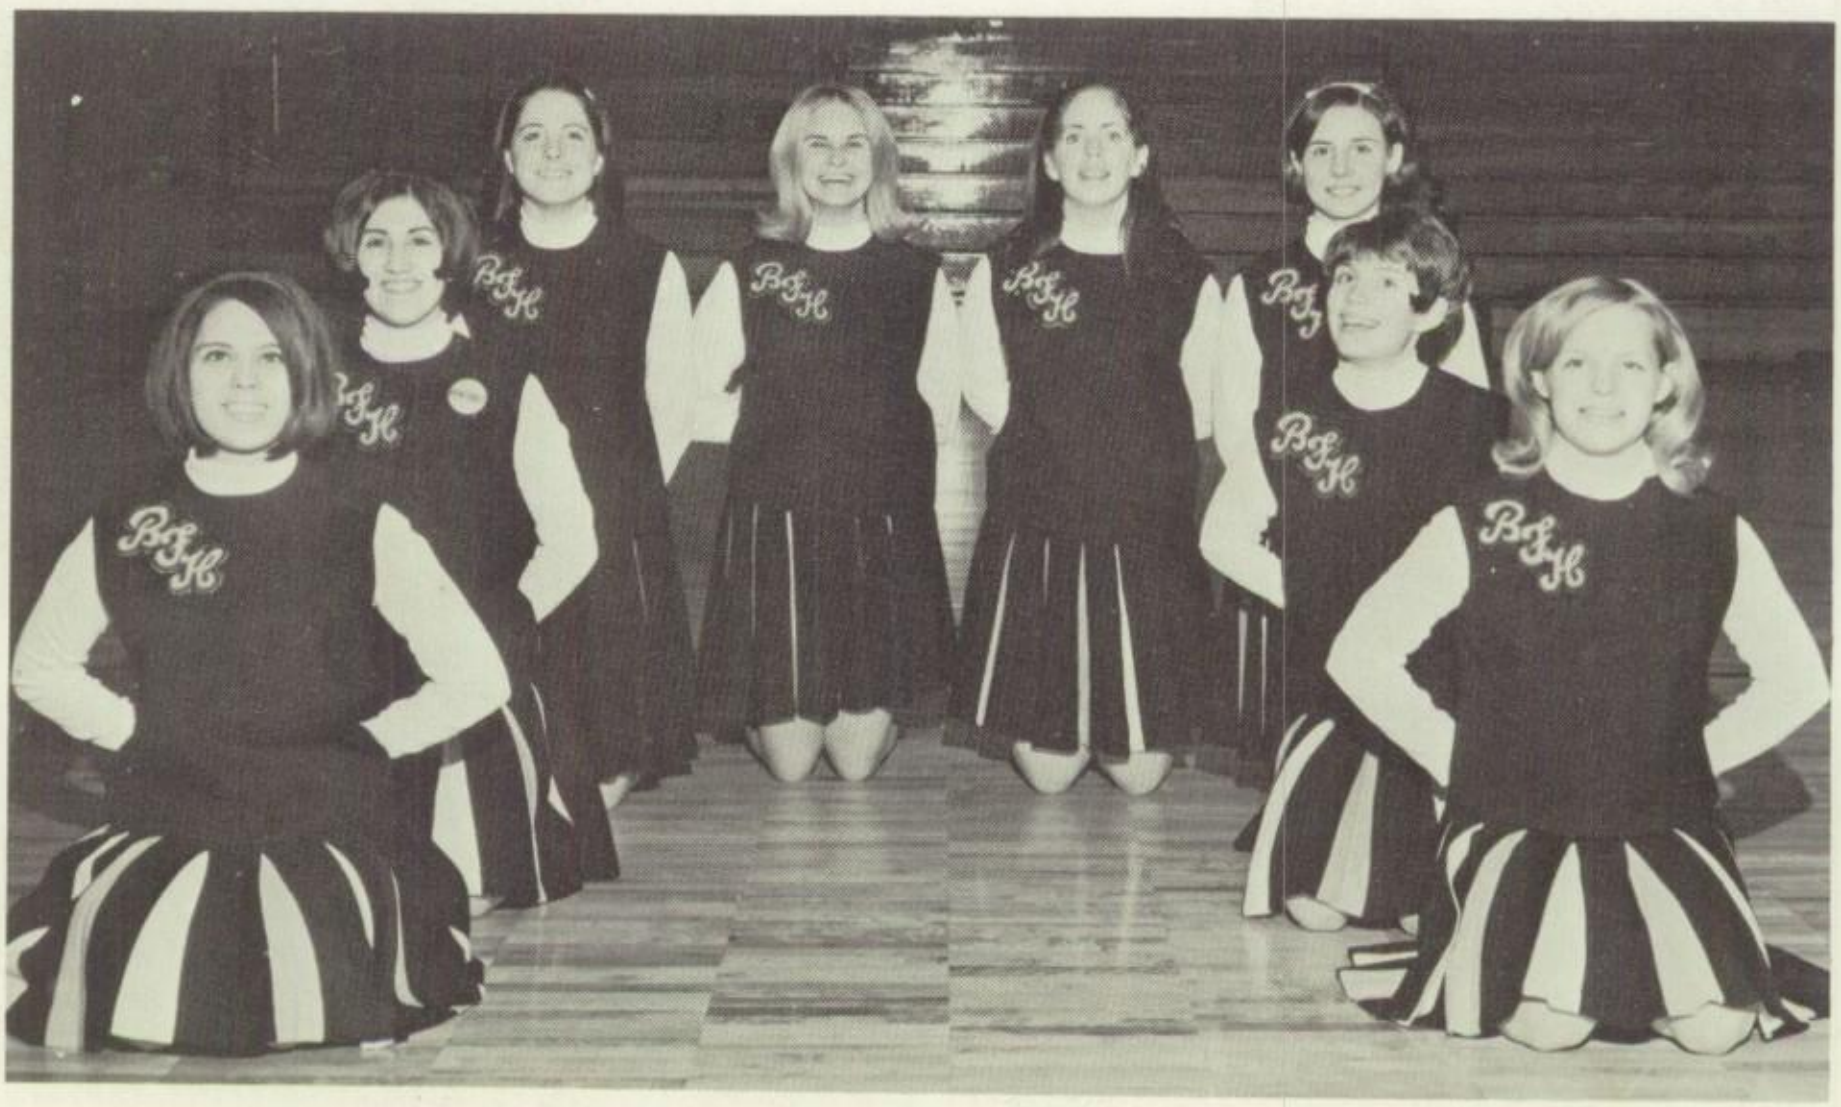
The Sound of Spirit--Let's Hear It!

The sounds of silence are a rarity at Bishop Foley, for it is frequently disturbed by the sounds of spirit. It may be the sound of a cheerleader urging her fellow fans to cheer, the Varsity Club member shouting his sales pitch for hot dogs at a football game, or the "Hooray" heard from the Ski Club member when the snow decides to fall on the day of a club trip.

Of course, the people we hear most from are the cheerleaders. They spend many hours behind the scene at back-breaking and voice-losing practices. Their shouts of victory are truly the instigators of the sounds of spirit in our school.

Our friendly Varsity men also head the list of spirit-conscious people. This club is for those boys who have earned a letter in athletics. But the club member is not only a man of brawn, for he is frequently called upon to perform other duties as a service to his school.

The Ski Club provides Foley with its only outdoor winter sport. Although lack of snow sometimes foils its plans, the successful ski trip is well worth waiting for.



Varsity Cheerleaders: Ann Wizinsky, Carmy Licari, Amy Glover, Vicky Zott, Nancy John, Vickie Taylor, Trudy Vincent, and Sue Barton.

School Life Centers Around Action Groups

ove: "Reading makes a full man," and as the new library grows, our dents begin to fill. Here, Library Club President Maureen Moreau and asurer Carmk Wallace lend a helping hand in the growing while work- at the card file.

In the midst of a "give me, give me" world, four organizations concentrate on "I give"; Student Council, the National Honor Society, the Mission Club and the Library Club.

Under the leadership of three presidents, Larry Cavanaugh, Joe Hance, and Tim Hayes, Student Council has been the axis around which school life pivots.

The National Honor Society contains many of the student body's finest; chosen for their leadership, scholarship, service, and character. The club is guided in its various projects by President Joe Hance and Moderator Sister Rose Constance.

Always an important part of student life, the C.S.M.C. is also important in the lives of many needy people all over the globe. Besides the weekly collections, funds were raised through the powder-puff game, car-washes, box lunches and Valentine sales.

One of the quieter clubs in school is the Library Club. Student librarians carry the responsibility of keeping the facilities organized and clean for student use. Club moderator and head librarian is Sister David Frances.

These organizations are the cornerstone for the building of a better student body.

It's What We Have That Counts

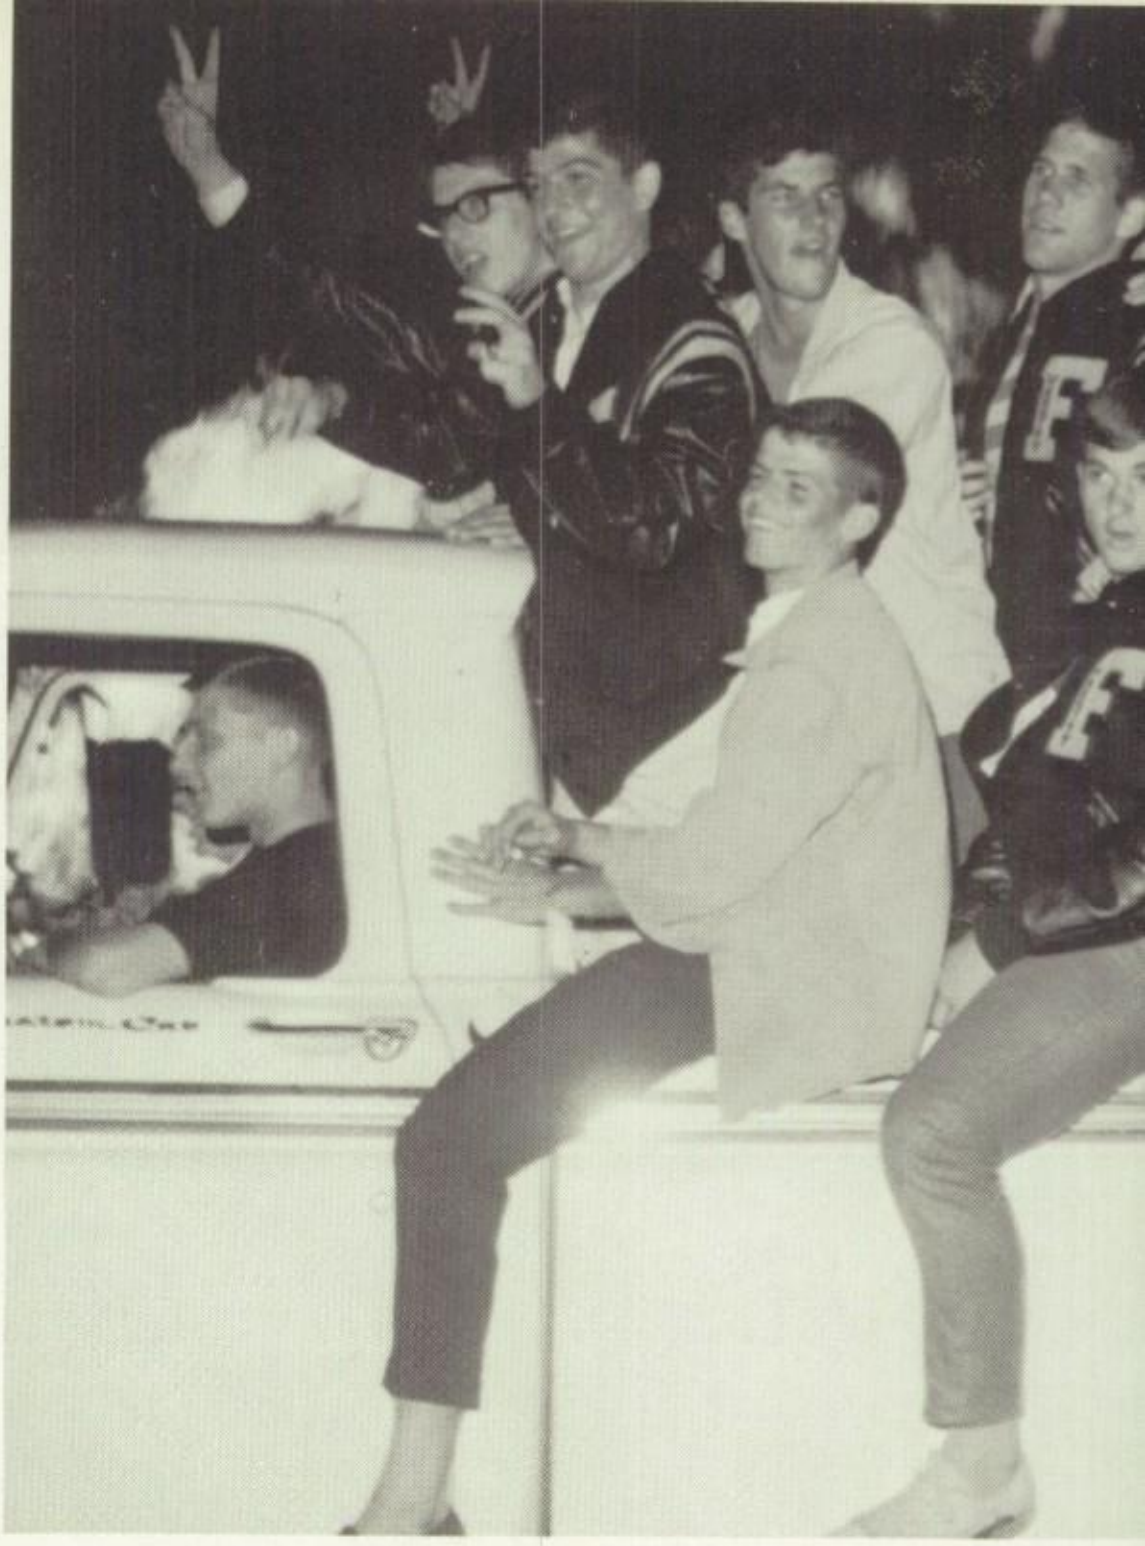
In France they have the Sorbonne; in Rome they have the Vatican; and in New York they have the UN; but it's what we have at Foley that counts.

Continuing Foley's educational plan of developing the complete student it is the Cercle Francais that counts as far as French is concerned. Sister Joan Hennessy, club moderator, has interested the students in the study of France, its history as well as current events. In keeping with this goal the club members sponsored a genuine French banquet including a rendition of the famous Can-Can. Travel is an important part of education, and several members of the club visited Quebec in April, while 15 more will visit France this summer.

Switching from French to Latin another club must take over, the J.C.L. One of the main events held this year by the club was the Saturnalia, a recreation of the ancient feast of gift-giving and general celebration. Several members are planning on attending the N.J.C.L. in New Orleans in August.

Turning to more modern ideas brings us to the study of speech and drama of the Senecians. Under the direction of Miss Linda Zappa, the club moderator, the members made field trips to such place as a radio-broadcasting station and the theatre. They also sponsored the all-school variety show in March, which brought out many hidden talents of Foley students.

Modern times mean international times and of course all international problems are handled by the U.N. Foley's model U.N. was formed by Sister Thomas Elizabeth in hopes of bringing the world closer to the students. The club sent seven senior delegates to the model U.N. sessions in Wash., D.C., as well as representatives to the University of Detroit in March.



ATHLETICS

"A time

a time to win,

Gridders, Grime, and a Go Get 'Em Team

The dream of every coach is to have all his lettermen return. For Coach Bill Boulus, this almost came true during the 1968 season. Thirteen of the Ventures' 25-man squad were returning seniors.

Facing a tough schedule, the Foley Ventures forged out two victories; one over St. David's and the other at the expense of Roseville Sacred Heart. The team ended with a 2-5 record. The Ventures played well, but because of lack of size and depth they could not always punch out a victory.

Individual efforts were plentiful this season, as the linemen hit with enthusiam from the opening kickoff to the final gun, and the backs ran with great strength. Mr. Boulus, varsity head coach, and Mr. Roberts and Mr. Coll, assistant coaches, said they were pleased with the boys, and that they were looking forward to a good football season next year.

Though their standing was not very impressive, the coaches felt the boys really gave an all-out performance.

The junior varsity, coached by Mr. Schwager, placed second in the league with a 4-3 record.

So Close to Victory So Many Times

A team is made up of individuals with a common goal, to win. Foley's varsity basketball team has certainly striven to reach their common goal. Although falling short in many cases the effort exhibited was clearly seen.

In game after nerve-racking game the distance between the opponent's score and Foley's decreased. Victories such as those against St. David and St. Ambrose made all the struggling worthwhile but even defeats taken from Nativity and East Catholic were well-fought.

Every team fights were their stars but Foley's fight was increased by the presence of Larry John. He not only impressed his school but also made a great impression on the whole league. Because of this Larry made first string of the All-League team.

Star or no star, Larry could not be left alone and his team knew it. This unity among the boys was noticeable throughout the whole season especially during those last minute rallies that brought us so close to victory so many times.

Elsie First in State

Of all Foley's varsity teams this year the wrestlers were by far the most successful. The team, initiated only last year, has been improved greatly with such notable showings as a second place in the district tournament and a tenth out of the 32 teams represented in the regionals.

Under the demanding coaching of Mr. Art Roberts the key words for success were "guts, pain and conditioning." In the Catholic Tournament held February 8, Bill Elsenheimer took a first place with Mark Szymula second and Don Shapton and Steve Ferguson taking thirds.

In the district tournaments Bill "Elsie" along with Don Scruggs placed first with Steve Skok, Don Shapton, John Synowieck and Steve Ferguson placing second. The regionals saw two Foley grapplers qualify to the state finals with Bill again taking first and Steve Skok third.

On March 7-8 Bill personified the hopes and dreams of every wrestler when he won the State Championship in the B 138-lb division. He is the first State Champ Foley has had but many more are expected in the future.

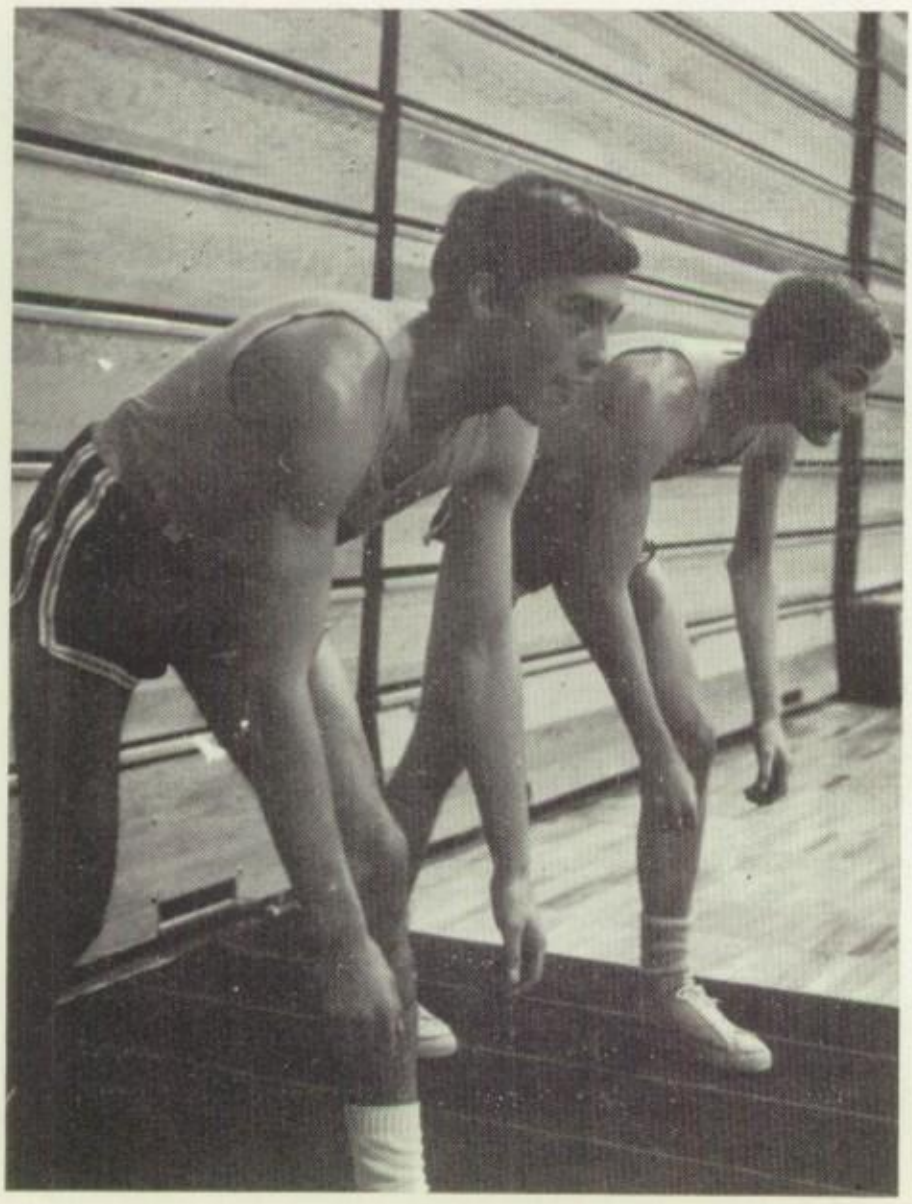
Season Spiked With Smashing Victories



Season to season, Foley continues to produce the finest in spring sport activities. Early spring finds our guys changing from tennis shoes to spikes and wrestling mats to bats and balls. This change in apparatus indicates that baseball coach, Mr. Deis, and track coach, Mr. Schwager, are preparing their teams for another season of Venture victories.

The track team begins their workouts early in the season since conditioning is so important in the running business. Pink sweatshirts and muddy spikes are familiar sights on Foley's practice field.

This year the baseball team had an advantage in that they could begin training early in the new gym.

With the return of all of the varsity this year, the teams expected to have their third straight successful season. The last yearbook copy had to be out before these sports had progressed very far, but at the deadline date it looked as if both teams had a good chance to capture their first championship.

Girls Keep Competition Rolling As They Hit The Sports Scene

As Bishop Foley began its first year as a school of higher education it became a school where the students would pursue physical achievements too.

In the rush of freshman year, the girls formed their first athletic group, the girls' softball team. It was a slow start but over the four years they have made the team one to be proud of.

As the student body grew so did the Girls' Athletic Department, and the basketball team was formed. Victories were not many, but the effort and determination of the girls meant more than the final score.

This year the class of 1969 saw some new and final touches added, the formation of the National Girls' Athletic Association, and the completion of the gym and the new track.

With these additions and the foundation laid by the first graduating class, Bishop Foley's girls' sports department is sure to win.

Forever Foley's First and Fondest

On September 8, 1965, Bishop Foley High School opened its doors for the first time to the class that will hold its earliest and fondest memories--the Class of '69.

For the seniors, the preceding four years reflect milestones in Foley's history. Still close to them are those first days, when they alone faced the responsibility of establishing tradition, and experiencing events only they could appreciate being the first class. In the years to come the mention of Foley will recall the days when they collected rocks on the front grounds during study halls, and days of exchanging classes through the main office, somehow finding their way to class amidst the boxes and unassembled lockers. Junior year will remain highlighted by the first ring ceremony and "San Franciscan Nights," the first junior prom. Senior year will bring to mind a huge blue whale and hours of working together to win first place in the float contest which bonded the class in unity.

With completion of the '68-69 school year, Foley's first seniors graduate to seek their place in the world. As they do so, the other students will sense their absence and feel the loss of the class that will always remain Foley's pride.

It is said that all great things must come to an end. As the pages in this book are finally closed and the memories of this year are put away on a dusty shelf, let not the antics of Old Man Time cause us to forget the contents of this book, another Foley First. Although a tearful smile topped by a symbolic graduation cap will mark the end of the school year 1969, the memories we have made here will never lose their meaning. The times we have experienced the sweet taste of success will head our list of accomplishments, but it has been the unforgettable moments of anguish that have taught us how to profit from defeat. We have received as well as given, and it is this sharing of the good as well as the bad which provides the exuberant spirit Bishop Foley thrives on. It is a spirit which we ignited and which will burn forever in the hearts of future students as well as those who are leaving their high school years behind them. The Venture spirit, one great thing that will never come to an end.
